Mission of the Department and Programs
The mission of the Department of Public Policy and Administration, Doctor of Public Administration (D.P.A.) program, and the Master of Public Administration (M.P.A.) program at West Chester University is to provide high-quality, accessible public service education for a diverse group of emerging and existing public service leaders. This department prepares students to manage and lead across boundaries of the public, nonprofit, and private sectors. A community of accomplished scholars and practitioners instructs and mentors students in pursuing the public interest with accountability and transparency; serving professionally with competence, efficiency, and objectivity; acting ethically to uphold the public trust; and demonstrating respect, equity, and fairness in dealings with citizens and fellow public servants. The Department of Public Policy and Administration, with its affiliated Center for Social and Economic Policy Research, provides community access to faculty expertise, applied scholarship, and guidance in the practice of public affairs, administration, and policy.

Doctor of Public Administration Program
The Doctor of Public Administration degree at West Chester University is designed to meet regional employer and student needs by preparing individuals to advance the practice of public affairs and administration at the highest levels. The 43-credit-hour D.P.A. curriculum consists of a Doctoral Study course (1 credit hour), the Administrative Core, the Methods Sequence, Concentration Electives, and the Capstone Seminar. The Administration Core (12 credit hours) focuses on the development of core competencies in the areas of strategic management; public sector economic and financial decision-making; and policy advocacy and leadership. Students are required to successfully complete a comprehensive exam upon completion of the Administrative Core. The Methods Sequence (9 credit hours) prepares D.P.A. students to engage in the highest levels of program and policy evaluation. The acquisition of methodological competence through the evaluation lens assists students in identifying the most effective and efficient solutions to the problems they encounter in practice. In consultation with an advisor, Concentration Electives (9 credit hours) are selected from among the Departments of Public Policy and Administration, Criminal Justice, Geography and Planning, and Graduate Social Work. Finally, students complete the Capstone Seminar (12 credit hours), whereby students produce an applied capstone project that demonstrates a high level of competence in applying the D.P.A. student learning outcomes.

At the end of the D.P.A. program, students will be able:
1. To lead and manage in public governance: the ability to appraise both the internal and external organizational environment, including the culture, politics, and institutional setting, and to use this knowledge to lead and manage personnel, programs, policy and outcomes
2. To participate in and contribute to the public policy process: the ability to understand the policy making process, including defining the problem, facilitating stakeholder involvement in agenda-setting, formulating, implementing, and evaluating policies and developing the expertise to effectively contribute to the policy-making process
3. To analyze, synthesize, think critically, solve problems, and make decisions: the ability to evaluate and synthesize information in order to propose solutions for public problems, think critically by demonstrating both procedural and conceptual knowledge, analyze data using a variety of research methods, and make evidence-based and ethical decisions regarding public policy and organizational outcomes
4. To articulate and apply a public service perspective: the ability to understand and apply public service values appropriate to public affairs, administration, and policy
5. To communicate and interact productively with a diverse and changing workforce and citizenry: the ability to respond thoughtfully to diversity both in the workplace and the citizenry and work productively in teams, including interacting effectively, demonstrating composure, professionalism, and respect for others, and sharing information, expertise, and resources

Master of Public Administration Program
The Department of Public Policy and Administration offers the Master of Public Administration (M.P.A.). The M.P.A. is a professional degree with areas of concentration in general public administration, public management, and nonprofit administration. In addition, graduate certificates, which can be coupled with the M.P.A., are offered in healthcare administration, human resource management, industrial/organizational psychology, project management, sport management and athletics, and urban and regional planning.

The degree is designed to equip students with the skills necessary to enhance the field of public service through positions within government, the nonprofit sector, and even the private sector (e.g., as consultants to governmental organizations or as governmental service providers). The M.P.A. curriculum provides students with a foundation in the practice of public administration. Students earning the degree possess a high level of competency in administrative processes for the public and nonprofit sectors.

The 36-39 curriculum is designed for individuals with professional work experience who want to enhance their administrative and public management skills, as well as pre-service students who do not have professional experience. Students who lack work experience incorporate a relevant internship or professional development seminar into their programs.
