DEPARTMENT OF PHILOSOPHY

College of Arts and Humanities

108 Anderson Hall
610-436-2841
Department of Philosophy (http://www.wcupa.edu/philosophy)

Matthew Pierlott (mpierlott@wcupa.edu), Chairperson

The Department of Philosophy offers two concentrations leading to the bachelor of arts degree.

• The Philosophy concentration surveys the history of philosophy, explores its major disciplines, and focuses on selected topics of perennial interest. The purpose of the program is to develop organizational, analytic, and expressive skills required for law school, graduate work in philosophy, and a wide range of careers in government, business, and industry.

• The Religious Studies concentration is a valuable preparation for careers in fields where an understanding of religious/cultural background and diversity is crucial, such as education, public relations, international affairs, and business. Undergraduate work in religious studies can also enrich students’ personal lives and may be used to prepare students for seminary study at the graduate level.

Minor Programs

Students may minor in either philosophy or religious studies. A minimum of 18 credits is required. Elective courses are selected in consultation with the student’s minor advisor. Either of these minors may be taken as a concentration in the bachelor of arts in liberal studies general degree program.

Courses

PHI

PHI 100. Creating Meaning. 3 Credits.

This course is an introduction to existentialism, one of the most influential intellectual currents of the 20th century. Through film, literature, and the primary philosophical texts of existential philosophers, such as Friedrich Nietzsche, Jean-Paul Sartre, Albert Camus, and Simone de Beauvoir, we will explore basic existential themes such as the formation of values, “dread” and “alienation.” Existentialism focuses less on what to think and more on how to live stark raving sane in the face of radical freedom and responsibility.
