The Department of Anthropology and Sociology offers two programs leading to the bachelor of arts degree.

• The B.A. in Anthropology
  Anthropology is the study of humankind in all of its diversity, paying equal attention to the biological and cultural aspects of being human in the past and in the present. Anthropology majors take courses in each of the four overlapping sub-disciplines: archaeology, biological anthropology, linguistics, and socio-cultural anthropology; minors take courses in at least two sub-disciplines. Archaeology is the study of the ancient and recent human past through biological and material remains; biological anthropology examines human biological variation and its evolution over time; linguistic anthropology focuses on the bio-cultural aspects of language and communication; and, socio-cultural anthropology is the study of cultural patterns and their expression through ideas, beliefs, norms, values, interactions, worldviews, and behavior.
  Students in the anthropology program have the option to concentrate their coursework in the areas of archaeology, biological/medical anthropology, museum studies, or ethnographic study to prepare for a variety of jobs, including possible careers in archaeology and preservation; conservation work; consulting and market research; global health and nutrition; museum work; or the tourism and heritage industry. Students completing an anthropology degree are also well prepared for graduate study in anthropology or related fields.

• The B.A. in Sociology
  focuses on the scientific study of society, social life, social change, and human behavior. Students develop the knowledge and skills needed to understand the influence of social forces on human development and action, the workings of society and its components, reasons that societies change in some ways while staying the same in others, and the causes and effects of social power and inequality. Courses examine the influence of social contexts like culture, politics, the economy, and the environment; social processes like socialization, stratification, urbanization, conflict, and change; social structures and statuses like class, race, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality; and social institutions like the family, education, healthcare, religion, the workplace, and mass media. Students develop a foundation in quantitative and qualitative research methods, including digital approaches, as well as classical and contemporary theories for investigating the social world, preparing them for work in many professional fields. Further, students have opportunities to gain real-world experience through participation in original research and data analysis, experiential learning, community engagement, internships, and study abroad. Because sociology unifies multiple disciplines, the B.A. in Sociology prepares students for work and further studies in areas such as education, public policy, social and human services, criminal justice and victim advocacy, urban affairs, community organizing, legal and health professions, social science research, and more.

Majors in the two B.A. programs should consult this catalog, the appropriate department handbook, and their advisor for current requirements. Students planning to major in one of these programs are advised to take ANT 102 and SOC 200 no later than their sophomore year.

Minor Programs
Students may minor in anthropology or sociology. A minimum of 18 credits is required, including 9 credits of required courses and 9 credits of electives. Students may take either of these minors as one of the minors in the B.A. in Liberal Studies - Arts and Humanities or B.S. in Liberal Studies - Professional Studies programs.

Gen Ed Attribute: Foreign Language Culture Cluster, Spanish Culture Cluster.
Typically offered in Fall, Spring & Summer.

ANT 230. Introduction to Primatology. 3 Credits.
The purpose of this course is to familiarize students with the taxonomy (or classification), distribution, morphology (or structure), and behavior of human beings’ closest living relatives, the nonhuman primates. Primatologists can be found in numerous academic disciplines including anthropology, psychology, biology, ecology, neuroscience and veterinary medicine and this course is designed to provide you with the background to take more advanced courses within this subject area. However, even if your interests lie outside the field of primatology, this course will provide you with a deeper understanding of nonhuman primates, evolution, and where we humans fit in the world.
Pre / Co requisites: ANT 230 requires prerequisite of PSY 100 or ANT 101 or BIO 100 or BIO 110 or permission from instructor.
Typically offered in Spring.
Cross listed courses ANT 230, PSY 230.

ANT 260. Artifacts and Culture. 3 Credits.
Critical exploration of the role of material items in the analysis and interpretation of human culture.
Gen Ed Attribute: Interdisciplinary Requirement.
Typically offered in Fall.

ANT 277. Sustainable Food Systems. 3 Credits.
This course, team taught by an anthropologist and a registered dietitian, examines the interrelationship of nutrition ecology, anthropology and the political economic underpinnings of sustainable food systems.
Gen Ed Attribute: Interdisciplinary Requirement.
Typically offered in Spring.
Cross listed courses ANT 277, NTD 277.

ANT 280. Museum Techniques. 3 Credits.
Exploration of techniques of cataloging, conserving objects, and of designing and setting up exhibits. Involvement in actual museum work.
Pre / Co requisites: ANT 280 requires prerequisite of ANT 102 or ANT 103.
Typically offered in Fall & Spring.
Repeatable for Credit.

ANT 310. Human Paleontology. 3 Credits.
Human origins and evolution, including evolutionary thought, the evolution of non-human primates, and the hominin fossil record.
Pre / Co requisites: ANT 310 requires prerequisite of ANT 101 or permission of instructor.
Typically offered in Fall.

ANT 312. Medical Anthropology. 3 Credits.
Overview of field, including theory, methods and concepts. Evolutionary and ecological bases of disease and health; how culture affects the definition and treatment of illness.
Pre / Co requisites: ANT 312 requires prerequisite of ANT 102.
Gen Ed Attribute: Writing Emphasis.
Typically offered in Fall.

ANT 320. North American Indian Cultures. 3 Credits.
Survey and comparative study of the ethnocultural record of North American Indian cultures, including belief systems and social organization.
Pre / Co requisites: ANT 320 requires prerequisite of ANT 102.
Typically offered in Fall.

ANT 321. American Indian Today. 3 Credits.
Native Americans in contemporary Anglo-America.
Gen Ed Attribute: Diversity Requirement.
Typically offered in Spring.

ANT 322. Ethnology of Central America. 3 Credits.
Survey of the modern cultures of Central America: relationships to ancient peoples; the process of modernization in this area.
Pre / Co requisites: ANT 322 requires prerequisite of ANT 102.
Gen Ed Attribute: Foreign Language Culture Cluster, Spanish Culture Cluster.
Typically offered in Fall & Spring.

ANT 324. Native People of the Andes. 3 Credits.
This course provides a comprehensive survey of the historical formation and development of the Andean society before and after the Spanish conquest.
Gen Ed Attribute: Foreign Language Culture Cluster, Spanish Culture Cluster.
Typically offered in Fall, Spring & Summer.
ANT 326. Cultures & Peoples of Sub-Saharan Africa. 3 Credits.
Examination of the cultures and societies of Black Africa. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 326 requires prerequisite of ANT 102. Typically offered in Spring.

ANT 327. Cultures & Peoples of India. 3 Credits.
Provides a broad understanding of India using a framework that examines the intersection of culture and society, economy, politics, and art and literature. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 327 requires prerequisite of ANT 102. Typically offered in Spring.

ANT 329. Problems in Ethnology. 3 Credits.

This course will introduce students to the study of ethnographic film/video. Topics to be considered include visual anthropology, ethnographic representation, and film theory. Typically offered in Fall.

ANT 352. Cultural Heritage: Creating and Preserving the Past. 3 Credits.
What is cultural heritage, and how do societies remember, preserve, and transmit it? This seminar-style class explores the history and politics of cultural heritage and conservation movements, examining the ways in which ‘patrimony’ (heritage) is used to create or contest cultural identities across the world. Through case studies, we will discuss why tangible and intangible heritage stir such emotions among diverse peoples, mobilizing political organizations, NGOs, tourists, museums, tomb raiders, and even armies to celebrate, protect, loot, commodify, efface, contest, and even go to war over artifacts and practices rooted in the past. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 352 requires prerequisite of ANT 102 or ANT 103, or permission of instructor. Typically offered in Fall.

ANT 360. Historical Archaeology. 3 Credits.
Historical research through archaeology. Chester County is emphasized through local research projects. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 360 requires prerequisite or co-requisite of ANT 103. Typically offered in Fall & Spring.

ANT 362. Archaeology of Central America. 3 Credits.
The archaeological record of Central America, covering the significant features of each culture area from modern Mexico to Panama. Gen Ed Attribute: Foreign Language Culture Cluster, Spanish Culture Cluster. Typically offered in Spring.

ANT 364. Archaeology of Ancient North America. 3 Credits.
A survey of North American prehistory from the earliest inhabitants to the time of European colonization. Covers all culture areas but with an emphasis on the Eastern woodlands. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 364 requires prerequisite of ANT 103. Gen Ed Attribute: Writing Emphasis. Typically offered in Fall.

ANT 366. Archaeological Lab Methods. 3 Credits.
An overview of analytical methods used to process, describe and interpret archaeological materials. Emphasis on practical hands-on laboratory research through the implementation of qualitative observation and quantitative methodologies. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 366 requires prerequisite of ANT 103. Typically offered in Fall.

ANT 367. Archaeology and the Environment. 3 Credits.
In this course students will learn about how archaeologists study the relationships between human culture and the natural world, and how archaeology can be applied to some of today's environmental concerns. Grounded in archaeological research, the course covers topics such as past human impacts on the environment, environmental impacts on the archaeological record, spatial modeling and remote sensing in archaeology, and human ecology, including the role of cultural memory in current conservation practices. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 367 requires a prerequisite of ANT 103. Typically offered in Fall & Spring.

ANT 368. Archaeological Field School. 3-6 Credits.
Application of archaeological recovery techniques through field investigation. Students participate in the gathering, processing and study of archaeological site data. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 368 requires prerequisite ANT 103. Typically offered in Summer.

ANT 375. Ethnographic Field School. 3-6 Credits.
This is an anthropological field school in which students gain in-depth, hands-on training and experience in conducting qualitative ethnographic research at a fieldsite, and is intended to provide students with instruction in multiple ethnographic methods and procedures as they design and carry out their own research project. In the course of their research, students will familiarize themselves with relevant social theories and will be given an intensive and interactive look at the culture and history of the people at their research site. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 375 requires a prerequisite of ANT 102. Typically offered in Summer. Repeatable for Credit.

ANT 405. Topical Seminar in Anthropology. 3 Credits.
Selected topics in the subdisciplines of anthropology. Topics announced in advance. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 405 requires: juniors and seniors only. Typically offered in Fall & Spring. Repeatable for Credit.

ANT 410. Independent Studies in Anthropology. 1-3 Credits.
Special research projects, reports, and readings in anthropology. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 410 requirement; Permission of department chairperson; juniors and seniors only. Consent: Permission of the Department required to add. Typically offered in Fall, Spring & Summer. Repeatable for Credit.

ANT 420. Anthropology Internship. 3 Credits.
This internship is intended to augment student learning through practical professional experiences. Student interns will gain exposure to contemporary anthropological practice outside the classroom and will be provided an opportunity to acquire new skills, develop professional contacts, and gain first-hand knowledge of potential workplaces. The internship program is designed to enhance student preparedness for a future in their area of interest within the discipline while exploring potential workforce matches. Internships can be within any of the subfields of anthropology and will vary according to student interests and the needs and opportunities of the sponsoring organization. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 420 requires prerequisite of ANT 102, at least 80 semester hours of college credit, an additional 12 hours in courses in the anthropology program, and a minimum 2.3 GPA in anthropology and overall. Consent: Permission of the Department required to add. Typically offered in Fall, Spring & Summer. Repeatable for Credit.

ANT 459. History of Ethnological Theory. 3 Credits.
Development of ethnological theory with emphasis on the nature of explanation in ethnology. Pre / Co requisites: ANT 459 requires six hours in ethnology and junior or senior standing. Typically offered in Fall.
ANT 495. Senior Seminar in Anthropology. 3 Credits.
Discussion and supervised research designed to integrate conceptual and methodological skills. The research paper for the seminar must be acceptable as a required departmental senior research paper.
Pre / Co requisites: ANT 495 requires senior anthropology majors only.
Typically offered in Spring.

SOC

SOC 200. Introduction to Sociology. 3 Credits.
Fundamentals of the sociological perspective on human behavior.
Gen Ed Attribute: Behavioral and Social Science Distributive.
Distance education offering may be available.
Typically offered in Fall, Spring & Summer.

SOC 225. Digital Social Research. 3 Credits.
An introduction to digital data and the scientific research methods used to study the digital social realm, with an emphasis on the opportunities, challenges, and ethics of using digital data to examine social life. This course is especially suitable for students in the social sciences, health sciences, communication studies, and business fields.
Pre / Co requisites: SOC 225 requires a prerequisite of MAT 103 or higher.
Distance education offering may be available.
