Department of Philosophy (http://www.wcupa.edu/philosophy/)
Cassie Striben (cstriben@wcupa.edu), Chairperson

Programs of Study
The Department of Philosophy offers two concentrations leading to the bachelor of arts degree.

• The Philosophy Concentration surveys the history of philosophy, explores its major disciplines, and focuses on selected topics of perennial interest. The purpose of the program is to develop the organizational, analytic, and expressive skills required for law school, graduate work in philosophy, and a wide range of careers in government, business, and industry.

• The Religious Studies Concentration is a valuable preparation for careers in fields where an understanding of religious/cultural background and diversity is crucial, such as education, public relations, international affairs, and business. Undergraduate work in religious studies can also enrich students’ personal lives and may be used to prepare students for seminar study at the graduate level.

Minor Programs
Students may minor in peace and conflict studies, philosophy, religious studies, or applied ethics. A minimum of 18 credits is required. Elective courses are selected in consultation with the student’s minor advisor. Any of these minors may be taken as part of the Interdisciplinary Studies degrees.

Certificate Program
The undergraduate Certificate in Conflict Transformation and Management consists of 12 credits, some of which may also be used to fulfill other degree requirements. The certificate is intended to enhance any major by providing practical skills for dealing with conflicts more effectively.

Courses

PAX

PAX 200. Introduction to Peace and Conflict Studies. 3 Credits.
An interdisciplinary inquiry into the nature and causes of social conflict. The aim throughout is to find ways of avoiding destructive conflict, whether through negotiation or other means. The issue of justice as a factor in conflict receives special attention.
Gen Ed Attribute: Interdisciplinary Requirement.
Typically offered in Fall & Spring.
Cross listed courses PAX 200, WOS 200.

PAX 301. Global Perspectives in Peace and Justice. 3 Credits.
This course examines global issues of social justice, reconciliation, and peacemaking with an emphasis on post-colonial resistance, political violence, economic justice, ethnic conflicts, international human rights, and global environmental concerns. The course utilizes theories from Peace and Conflict Studies with an emphasis on post-colonial discourse, feminist theory, critical race theory, conflict transformation, and global peacemaking.
Gen Ed Attribute: Diversity Requirement, Interdisciplinary Requirement.
Typically offered in Fall.

PAX 315. Peace and Conflict Studies Travel Seminar. 3 Credits.
This seminar will be approximately three weeks in length and must include at least 10 days of travel. The travel will be an examination of social justice issues and/or conflict transformation work in a location that has experienced conflict. The focus of the seminar will be peace and conflict studies in theory and practice. The seminar will include a study of the social, cultural, and historical contexts of the location. Students will prepare for departure with assigned readings, films, and/or hands-on activities. The seminar will consist of historical site visits, lectures/interviews with local people, sessions with peace practitioners, readings, and discussions. Possible locations may include, among others: the U.S. South, the U.S. Southwest, Israel/Palestine, India, Korea, Germany, and South Africa.
Gen Ed Attribute: Interdisciplinary Requirement.
Typically offered in Fall, Spring & Summer.
Repeatable for Credit.

PAX 345. Mediation and Conciliation. 3 Credits.
This is a course designed to place conflict transformation theory and management in to practice. The course will give students the skills they need to engage in community mediation. Students will spend the beginning of the semester learning basic theories and best practices in mediation. The remainder of the semester will allow students to practice the art of mediation through role plays. Students will get the experience of being a mediator and a disputant.
Pre / Co requisites: PAX 345 requires a prerequisite or corequisite of PAX 200 or permission of the department chair.
Typically offered in Fall, Spring & Summer.

PAX 377. Community Organizing: Strategies and Practice. 3 Credits.
This is a course that explores strategies and practice of organizing for social change. This course will study and engage social problems and the agencies (NGOs, non-profits, Not-for-profits, religious, and governmental) which deal with social problems through the strategic organizing. The course will examine the way social change occurs and how and why people organize with a focus on social, political, and economic justice and radical democracy. Students will be exposed to a variety of methods and practical strategies for nonviolent community organizing. While time is given to theory, this course will focus on the practice of social change and the development of practical skills for capacity building, strategic design, and organizing logistics.
Pre / Co requisites: PAX 377 requires a prerequisite of PAX 200, RUX 110, or YES 250.
Typically offered in Fall & Spring.
Cross listed courses PAX 377, RUX 377.

PHI

PHI 100. Creating Meaning. 3 Credits.
This course is an introduction to existentialism, one of the most influential intellectual currents of the 20th century. Through film, literature, and the primary philosophical texts of existential philosophers, such as Frederick Nietzsche, Jean-Paul Sartre, Albert Camus, and Simone de Beauvoir, we will explore basic existential themes such as the formation of values, “dread” and “alienation.” Existentialism focuses less on what to think and more on how to live in the face of radical freedom and responsibility.

Consent: Permission of the Department required to add.

PHI 405. Feminist Theory. 3 Credits.
This course focuses on the development of contemporary feminist theoretical constructs, beginning in the 1970s. Students will study classic feminist theories and ideas from this period. They will use a feminist pedagogy which emphasizes learning that is collaborative and student-centered. We value participatory, experimental, diverse, and student-centered knowledge production. Because we believe that students serve as sources of knowledge for themselves and each other, we encourage students to take initiative in and responsibility for the learning process.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 405 requires a prerequisite of two other WOS courses.
Typically offered in Fall.
Cross listed courses WOS 405, PHI 405.

PHI 407. Queer Theory. 3 Credits.
This course is an introduction to the study of Queer Theory, as both a discipline and a form of political resistance. Queer theory is, in a very basic nutshell, the study of identities that exist outside of rigid binary categories. For this reason, we must understand queer theory as separate from, even if closely aligned with, GLBT or sexuality studies. Queerness, in this context, does not refer to sexuality and gender, but to any identity rejected by or resistant to normative, binary categories. Thus, this course utilizes a "queer" approach (drawing on feminist, race, sexuality, psychoanalytic, literary, etc.) to ask fundamental questions about our identities (whether sexuality, gender, race, class, nationality, etc.) and how our identities are determined by and resistant to social regulation.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 407 requires a prerequisite of one WOS course.
Gen Ed Attribute: Diversity Requirement.
Typically offered in Fall.
Cross listed courses PHI 407, WOS 407.

PHI 410. Independent Study. 1-3 Credits.
Topic to be approved by supervising faculty member. Requires approval of Department Chair.
Consent: Permission of the Department required to add.
Repeatable for Credit.

PHI 411. The Problem of War. 3 Credits.
An examination of war and the "war systems" including terrorism. Alternatives to war are considered.
Typically offered in Fall.

PHI 412. Ethical Theories. 3 Credits.
An inquiry into the meaning, interpretations and function of ethical theory in our lives. The course will explore some combination of classic, modern and contemporary ethical theories.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 412 requires prerequisites of PHI 101 or PHI 180 and an overall GPA of at least 2.00.
Typically offered in Fall.

PHI 414. Philosophy of Religion. 3 Credits.
Religion and religious experience as viewed by major western thinkers. Concepts of God, immorality, religious knowledge, evil, miracles, and science and religion.
Typically offered in Fall.

PHI 415. Existentialism. 3 Credits.
An exploration of important texts in 19th century and 20th century existentialism and their influence on contemporary currents in philosophy and social sciences.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 415 requires prerequisite of 2 PHI courses.
Gen Ed Attribute: Foreign Language Culture Cluster, France & Francophone Area Culture Cluster.
Typically offered in Fall.
PHI 421. Philosophy of Law. 3 Credits.
Consideration of the philosophical foundations of law. Topics may include the nature of law and its relation to rights, liberties, duties, liability, and responsibility, and privacy; the nature of judicial reasoning; concepts of responsibility and liability; theories of punishment; causation in the law; discrimination and equality; the relation of law and morality; civil disobedience.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 421 requires prerequisite of 3 hours of Philosophy or permission of instructor.
Typically offered in Fall.

PHI 422. Philosophy of Science. 3 Credits.
The nature of scientific method and scientific theory, with reference to presuppositions, inference, explanation, prediction, applications, and verification.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 422 requires prerequisites of one 200 level PHI course and one other PHI course.
Typically offered in Fall.

PHI 436. Symbolic Logic. 3 Credits.
Principles and methods of symbolic logic. Practice in determining validity of sentential and quantificational arguments. The algebra of classes.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 436 requires prerequisite of PHI 190.
Typically offered in Spring.

PHI 451. Religion and Ecology. 3 Credits.
This course explores contemporary environmental issues from the perspectives of different religious traditions through a postcolonial interreligious lens. We will compare spiritual and religious views of the ecosystem, its meaning, and its relation to human beings. Students will be asked to critically examine these efforts and also explore issues of environmental injustice. Furthermore, this course introduces postcolonial ecocriticism that promises to make new contributions to the analysis of how imperialism, colonialism, and neocolonialism create basic conditions of inequality between the colonizer and the colonized. This high level online course is offered for both graduate and undergraduate students.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 451 requires prerequisite of one PHI course.
Distance education offering may be available.
Typically offered in Fall.

PHI 480. Environmental Ethics. 3 Credits.
Study of arguments and principles surrounding moral questions about the environment. Who and what dissolves moral consideration? What if our obligations to the environment and human beings conflict? Do animals have rights?.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 480 requires a prerequisite of 3 PHI credits or permission of instructor.
Typically offered in Spring.

PHI 481. Philosophy of Human Rights. 3 Credits.
An examination of theories of human rights and the bearing of these theories on public policy issues such as legitimacy of war and terrorism, economic justice, and whether future generations have rights. Topics include whether there are basic human rights, and if so, what they are, what is there nature or basis, and what arguments can be brought to bear upon these questions.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 481 requires prerequisite of 6 credits of Philosophy.
Typically offered in Spring.

PHI 499. Philosophical Concepts and Systems. 3 Credits.
An intensive study of the major works of one philosophical system, emphasizing comparison with other views. Required of all philosophy majors.
Pre / Co requisites: PHI 499 requires prerequisites of six hours of philosophy, senior standing, and an overall minimum GPA of 2.00.
Typically offered in Fall & Spring.
